TICKETS:

$ 15 ADULTS

$ 12 FRIENDS OF WRL AND STUDENTS

$ 8 UNDER 16

These popular area musicians return for an evening of lush harmonies and hot picking that is sure to please old friends and new listeners alike. Bill is noted for his multi-instrumental talents - guitar, fiddle, mandolin and banjo - and song writing. In this performance Bill will be joined by his daughter Macon, who grew up in a household filled with music. She often attended large outdoor festivals and became a part of a large community of musicians and music lovers. Years later, living in New York City, that music became a link to home as she began playing the guitar and singing. Jazz bassist Jimmy Masters backs Bill and Macon in this concert. He has performed extensively with the Gurleys in live settings and in recordings.

This Virginia-based couple has crisscrossed the continent (and beyond) for more than three decades, performing the tunes they love -- a hearty blend of bluegrass, folk, old-time and acoustic country, with rich harmonies and stellar songwriting. They've played The Grand Ole Opry, Austin City Limits, Music City Tonight, Mountain Stage and they're beloved regulars on Garrison Keillor's "A Prairie Home Companion." An outstanding contemporary group with musical sensibilities rooted in traditional country music. Their concerts include fine original tunes as well as songs gleaned from the rich musical heritage of Hank Williams, Jimmie Rodgers and the Carter Family.
