WRL to Host Public Informational Meetings About New Building

WILLIAMSBURG, Va. (Oct. 27, 2022) – WRL invites the public to join Library Director Betsy Fowler on Nov. 2 for informational meetings on the current Williamsburg facility and to learn more about important aspects of 21st century library buildings.

“Once in a generation, a community builds a new library, and now is the time when we need to start this process in order to see a completed building years down the road,” said Library Director Betsy Fowler. “This star-rated regional library system needs more space to serve the growing population.

“We invite the public to get informed and get involved in the vision for a new library building.”

WRL will hold two public informational meetings on Wednesday, Nov. 2, one at 2 pm and one at 6 pm, both in the Williamsburg Library Theatre at 515 Scotland St. The public will be given the opportunity to share questions and comments at each session, and behind-the-scenes tours will be available of the Williamsburg Library facility.

The public can also learn more about the need for a new library space at wrl.org/newbuilding.
